

She is now working as a lecturer of ESP/EOP courses and English language skills at Hue Industrial College. She is interested in English teaching methodology and language course and curriculum development. She has published numerous articles within her research areas.