

Reflection on Vietnamese ELT Teachers' ICT-Related Professional Development: Opportunities And Challenges

Mr. Nguyen Van Tuyen, The University of Newcastle, Australia

ABSTRACT

The Vietnamese National Foreign Language Project (NFLP) 2025 outlines that teacher training is one of the important parts of professional development. This project has breathed life to ICT in ELT and the come-into-being of VietCALL association. As a trainer of ICT skills to teachers of English across Vietnam, the speaker will conduct a reflection on teacher agency and teacher training based on the guidance of community of inquiry and TPACK framework. In this talk, the current issues about ICT training, the opportunities, and the challenges for future implementation will be discussed. Factors that affect the quality of training will be investigated through a systematic literature review followed by meta-synthesis, and through analysis of data collected from logs of a training management system, feedbacks from the teacher trainees during the actual implementation of a training program.
