

PROF. DR. MA SANDRA B. TEMPONGKO

Deputy Coordinator
SEAMEO TROPMED Network, Thailand

Ma. Sandra B. Tempongko is a Doctor of Public Health degree holder from the University of the Philippines Manila. She is currently the Deputy Coordinator of the Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organization (SEAMEO) Tropical Medicine and Public Health Network based in Bangkok, Thailand. She is also a Visiting Professor of the College of Public Health, University of the Philippines. Dr. Tempongko has advanced training on the fields of Medical Anthropology from the University of Connecticut and on Health Communication from Johns Hopkins University. In addition to her managerial role in the Network, she undertakes regional and international projects on Development of Regional Courses for WHO and other development agencies; Evaluation of Development Programmes and Projects; Implementation of Intervention Programmes on issues such as HIV/AIDS, Psychosocial Care/Mental health, Health Promotion, Border health, Diarrhea to name a few.

Dr. Tempongko also serves as a consultant /technical adviser to regional and international organizations on health issues and concerns. In addition, Dr. Tempongko engages in health research incorporating qualitative and quantitative methods.

B
I
O
G
R
A
P
H
Y